Living the Dream at Brierley Hill Bed and Breakfast
A Letter from the Owners

It’s a peaceful morning, I’m standing on the veranda by the porch swing just before the sun appears over the Blue Ridge Mountains, I watch the eastern sky begin to glow with shades of orange and yellow as fog winds its way through the Shenandoah Valley. Deer silently wander out onto the front lawn and varieties of native birds begin to fill the clam air with their morning songs. Thus, begins another glorious day at Brierley Hill.

Since we purchased Brierley Hill Bed and Breakfast in February of 2013 Karen and I have enjoyed considerable success and a lifestyle second-to-none, filled with constant blessings. We have now come to a time in our lives when we are ready to give the opportunity provided by this dream like property, business, and wonderful lifestyle to new owners.

The uniqueness of Brierley Hill’s location, 1.5 miles outside of Historic Lexington Virginia, and less than 5 miles from two major interstates, Rte. 64 (east and west) and Rte. 81 (north & south) provides an ideal location for travelers. Rich in American History, Lexington located in the peaceful Shenandoah valley between the majestic Blue Ridge and Appalachian Mountains, attracts guest from all parts of the world. In this quaint Historic town, you will find stellar restaurants, unique shops and two prominent colleges, Washington and Lee University and the Virginia Military Institute, making it one of the premier tourism destinations in Virginia.

Guests staying at Brierley Hill will find numerous outdoor activities to occupy their time during their stay. From mountain hikes with breathtaking views, waterfalls, rivers for fishing, swimming and kayaking, cycling trail, wineries, and breweries to sample some of Virginias finest beverages.

While living in Virginia’s Shenandoah Valley you will get to enjoy all of the four seasons. We have comfortable cool winters, usually with a couple of nice snowfalls, delightful springs full of color, with redbud trees blooming everywhere. Warm summers give way to cool, starlit nights, and autumn’s bright, rich colors of yellow, orange and red bring ever-changing excitement.

This small slice of heaven, Brierley Hill, provides for a unique lifestyle away from the hustle, bustle and often-stressful corporate life, with the flexibility to set your own schedule for hobbies, activities, vacations, etc.

To the next owner of Brierley Hill, we say welcome, take a deep breath of this clean fresh mountain air, and let your journey begin.

Warmly,

Dave & Karen Innocent
